ANECDOTES OF JOE JEFFERSON

Son Tells Interesting Stories of His Distinguished Father.

"THE TICKET-OF-LEAVE MAN"

Played "Convict" to an Audience Entirely Composed of Convicts.

Mr. Joseph Jefferson, the younger, is a chip of the old block in more ways than one.

So closely does he resemble his distinguished father that his face would serve to identify him in case he had no "dog tag" to help him out. Like his father, he has those genial and attractive manners that so greatly endeared him to the people of Richmond, and which kept his memory warm in the hearts of all who knew him.

As young Mr. Jefferson sat in the Westmoreland Club on yesterday he recalled how often his father had visited the club, and how great, up to the very end of his life, had been his affection for the city in which he had virtually begun his famous stage career.

It is interesting to know that of the company of ten, which presented "The Rivals" last night, six were members of the company he organized in 1861. Mr. Jefferson, Mr. William Jefferson, Mr. Joseph Jefferson, Mrs. Joseph Jefferson, Mr. John Jack, Miss Rosa Rand and Mr. Harry Odlin were all members of the company that surrounded the historic "Bob Acres" on his last tour.

Mr. William Jefferson were those that once belonged to his father, while the whip he carried and the pistols that trembled in his grasp were often used by the greatest of all "Bob Acres."

At the first Unitarian church the services to-morrow will be held in Monroe Hall at 11 o'clock. Dr. W. H. Robinson will preach on "The Gospel According to Darwin."

Dr. W. R. L. Smith's theme, at the Second Baptist church, will be "The Friendship and Pre-eminence of Jesus," and "The Betrayal of Jesus."

At Bethlehem Lutheran church the Rev. R. Franke will preach in the morning. At night Rev. D. Steffens, of Baltimore, will deliver a mission sermon.

Rev. B. H. Melton will preach at Marshall Street church to-morrow, both morning and night.

Special revival meetings are to begin at the Mission Tabernacle, 704 E. Grace street, to-morrow. They will be held every night, except Saturday, at 8 o'clock. There will also be the regular noon meeting from 12 to 1. The public is invited.

Dr. J. Wm. Jones will preach in the chapel of the Soldiers' Home to-morrow (Sunday), at 4 o'clock P. M.

The choir of the Broad Street Memorial church, who so delighted the veterans and their visitors a month ago, are expected to lead the singing, and all who may be present will be charmed with their sweet "song service."

At the Sunday school of the First Baptist church to-morrow morning there will be services of unusual interest. Dr. F. C. Woodward will deliver an address, and special music has been provided for the occasion. Students from the various educational institutions are expected to be present in large numbers. The Woman's College girls will probably attend in a body. All welcome.

The Randolph Street Baptist Sunday school will celebrate the fourteenth anniversary of its organization Sunday morning, beginning at 10:30. The committee in charge have arranged an attractive programme of music, recitations, addresses. The public cordially invited to attend.

At 8 P. M., the pastor, Rev. W. E. Robertson, will preach on "Options of Christ, No. 2."

At the Pine Street Baptist church the subject in the morning will be "What to Do with the Promises." At night "David's Great Sin." The pastor, Rev. J. B. Hutson, preaching.

To-morrow morning in the Grove Avenue Baptist church, Dr. J. B. Hawthorne will speak on "The Light That is Not Apprehended," or "The Misunderstood Christ." At 8:15 P. M. the assistant pastor, Rev. J. L. Bower, will have for his subject "Entering the Celestial City." To all of these services a special invitation is given to college students and strangers.

Rally Day will be observed at the Seventh Street Christian Church to-morrow morning, the observance of this day has been postponed from last Sunday on account of the inclement weather.

Rev. J. J. Haley, the pastor, will preach on the subject, "In Camp and on the March," and there will be a special musical programme rendered by the choir, under the direction of Mr. Joseph F. White. The usual night services will be held at 8 P. M.

CAROLINA SOCIETY.

Richmond Organization of Old North State Exiles.

The North Carolina Society of Richmond met last evening in its first session of the year, with a large number of its members present.

It is also the first meeting since the election of new officers and in its new quarters. The present officers are: President, C. E. Borden; Secretary, D. Norflet; Treasurer, J. Kent Rawley. The society has recently secured permanent quarters in the A. P. rooms, Third and Main Streets, and has appointed the fourth Friday night in each month for a smoker.

The first meeting was most enthusiastic and much business was done. The society expects to entertain this year a number of prominent North Carolinians. The October smoker will be held the night before the foot-ball game, and the society looks forward to entertaining the Governor of North Carolina, R. B. Glenn, who has signified his intention of being in Richmond at that time.

In November the smoker hopes to have an address from a member of the society who has acquired quite a name as a literary man and speaker.

The organization is in a flourishing condition, and is taking steps to enlarge its membership, which already embraces many prominent citizens of our city. It has for its aim not merely the pleasure of its members, but the promotion of the business interests of the city, so far as they have to do with North Carolina. To further this end, it is taking steps to afford a headquarters for North Carolina business men who may visit the city and make them feel at home. This fact will be published throughout the length and breadth of the Old North State.

NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

Motorman Harris and Conductor Lockhart Are Honorably Discharged.

MR. SCOTT RECEIVES DAMAGES

To Join Camp of Sons of Veterans—Smith Goes to New York.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch. Motorman C. B. Harris and Conductor C. E. Lockhart, the crew running the car that killed Mrs. Scott Taddell, of Chesterfield county, at the upper end of Hull Street, last Monday night, were honorably discharged in the court of 'Squire Cheatham yesterday morning.

A number of witnesses were examined, and the evidence was to all purposes the same as the testimony previously related in these columns. After the evidence had all been given in, Mr. E. H. Wells, counsel for the men, requested that the case be dismissed and the men discharged. As there was nothing to show that there had been criminal neglect on the part of the men, they were both discharged.

Mr. Harris and Mr. Lockhart will both resume their positions with the company and go back to work in a few days. Mr. Lockhart had handed in his resignation and was making his last run the night of the accident, to accept a position as teacher in his home county, Fauquier. Now, however, he will return to the company instead, so as not to place himself in a false light.

Claim is Settled.

The suit of Mr. W. S. Radcliffe against the receiver of the Virginia Passenger and Power Company for the death of the former's wife, was settled in the Circuit Court of Chesterfield county, before Judge Watson, on the payment by the company of $3,000. Mr. Radcliffe qualified as administrator of his wife's estate, and he was awarded $1,000, and the other $2,000 was divided equally among his five children, each receiving $400. The money has been paid over to Mr. Radcliffe.

Camp of Sons of Veterans.

There will be a mass meeting held at the court-house in Manchester on October 6th to organize a camp of the Sons of Veterans. About fifty names have already been secured, and as the movement is well under way there are prospects of a very large camp being organized. Prominent speakers will appear before the meeting, and with their stirring addresses and accounts of long forgotten war scenes will make an eloquent plea that the memory of the old veterans be kept alive in a camp of their sons.

Mr. Robert S. Rives has been appointed stenographer for the camp. He is a heart and is making an earnest endeavor to have the camp established.

Mr. Robert S. Rives has been appointed by the State Grand Jury as organizer of the proposed camp of sons.

Return to New York.

Sheppard K. Smith, who was released last Monday from Manchester jail, after having been charged with, and acquitted of, complicity in the murder of his little son, Ralph, has returned to New York to see his son, who is with his grandmother, Mrs. Townsend, mother of Mrs. Estelle Smith. Before his return to New York Mr. Smith spent a few nights in his former home, where his son, Ralph, met his death. He also spent a few nights with his friend, Dr. Fraser Smith, of Richmond.

Personals and Briefs.

Work has been resumed at the station house and the building is now being painted all round the interior. It is hoped that the renovation will be completed at an early date.

New hose has been received by the fire department, and a meeting is called for to-night at 7 o'clock to test the new apparatus.

The police have rounded up a large number of people who will be summoned to pay their dog taxes.

The committee which had in charge the German picnic recently held, met Thursday night in the home of Mr. Joseph Billey, and after the report was made found that the proceeds of the picnic were $350. The money will be devoted to the German picnic fund.

were, as ever, excellent, and the audience was enthusiastic in their applause. Blanche Rand, as Lydia Languish, and Arthur Hansford, as Captain Absolute, were highly satisfactory. Elma Burger, as Lucy, and Richard Lytle, as David, though both minor parts, were each accorded several ovations.

The sweet and touching scene between David and Bob Acres, showing the faithful devotion of the servant, uncouth as he was, for his master, was admirably handled by Mr. Lytle.

Ingomar and Virginius.

Theatre goers are promised to-night at the Academy, his revival of James Sheridan Knowles' great drama, "Virginius," with Louis James as "Virginius," and a supporting company promised to be equal to the famous revival of this noted play by John McCullough during the early '80s.

The legitimate drama is always welcome, especially so when interpreted by a star and conferees with the reputation of the company which the company presented, and who are in common touch with the events attendant thereto. It is in this uniformity of influence and deduction that Mr. James' success exists, and that has established his reputation as one of the greatest actors of the classic drama for nearly a quarter of a century.

Mr. James is too well known to necessitate any introduction. Suffice to say he is given the season one of the greatest performances of his career as "Virginius," and it is stated that special attention has been given to the scenic apparatus, which we are promised will be the most sumptuous and historically accurate since the famous McCullough revival. "Ingomar" will be the malinee bill.

"The Clansman."

It is not often that a dramatic company as large as "The Clansman" Company is sent on the road. Forty and fifty people are generally seen with an operatic company, but fifteen to twenty people make a good-sized dramatic organization.

In Thomas Dixon, Jr.'s great play dealing with the Ku-Klux-Klan there are twenty important roles. In all, fifty people are carried.

Generally, the walking parts are filled by local superlatives, but in this play, where the action is so important, it has been found necessary to engage competent actors for even these parts.

"The Clansman" will be presented for the first time in this city at the Academy Monday and Tuesday, with Tuesday matinee.

Mason and Mason.

Musical comedy will entertain the patrons of the Bijou next week when Broadhurst & Currie's company of sixty people, with Mason and Mason as the stars, will hold the boards. This organization is well recommended by the reports from the other cities where it is said to have secured a great success, which seems to be greatly due to the melodious music and the witty dialogue of the play, although the clever performers, including a well drilled chorus, are said to deserve much credit. The production is furthermore said to be beautifully staged, and it seems safe to say that this is one of the greatest theatrical productions of the season.

SYNOD NEXT MONTH.

Gathering of Presbyterian Ministers and Laymen.

The one hundred and eighteenth meeting of the Synod of Virginia will be held in the latter part of next month. Great preparations are being made to entertain the delegates and visitors as a large crowd is expected to attend the session. The States represented will be Virginia, Maryland, District of Columbia and West Virginia, in which the Synod of Virginia embraces all of the Southern Presbyterian churches. The synod will be composed of about 100 ministers and one delegate from each church.

Dr. E. B. McClure, pastor of Park Place Church, Norfolk, is moderator, and will preside, and he will make the opening address.

The synod will open Thursday evening, October 26th, and will continue for several days. The meeting will be held at the Hotel Richmond, and will be presided over by Mr. R. E. Magill and Rev. Dr. A. L. Phillips.

The three hundred delegates who are expected will, during their stay, be entertained by the Presbyterians of this city.

"THE ONE JOHN."

Many Cases Disposed of By the Great Dispenser.

There were various and sundry types of sinful ones before the counter behind which reposes and proposes and disposes and imposes and opposes and often supposes the great and only imitable John Jeter Crutchfield, when Sergeant Tallo, rapped for order yesterday morning. The came from the Ward and they came from the Bowery. Seventeenth Street sent its delegation and the Bottom contributed handsomely to the heterogeneous conglomeration. From afar off Sheep Hill the wanderers returned to the flock and the flock in its entirety assembled before the mahogany counter and beseechingly looked into the face of the gray-haired gentleman—a man grown gray in the service of the city, yet because of his sleepless night pondering over some great stretch of the conscience.

Fannie Lee, a dope artist of the queerest type, ambled up to the counter and said that Junius Hall had taken $2 from her. Junius denied it and Fannie looked sleepy when asked about the matter.

"Have you got sense enough to get out of here?" asked the Dispenser.

"Tut!" said Mary.

"Get out!" yammered, skiddoo, sixty-two with you," shot back the Dispenser.

"Yes, sir," said Fannie, and she turned towards the cage.

"If I will," the judge said, "you must go home, not to the jail." "About face, there, and get back to the word," said Mr. Gibbons.

"She can't seem to understand the order of the judge and doesn't appear to have half sense," ejaculated Mr. Robbins as Fannie turned with her face towards the door that leads out to Broad Street.

"Sergeant, please call Cy Prosser," asked the court, in a pleading voice.

The call was made and a little sick of licee ambled up to the counter. Behind him was his father, a gray-haired man, who said that the offspring was incorrigible.

"Is he incorrigible?" asked the Dispenser of the ancient darkey.

"Now, sir, he never done dat, but he des mean all thout' on I des got to git rid of him. But, boss, I ain't cuse him or being dat what you said," meekly answered the negro of '61.

"Well, the jail is full of young niggers now. There's no place in the reformatory for them. One nigger down there has been in jail for over twelve months and he reformatory doesn't seem to want him. Take that brat home and skin him alive. I don't want him and the nigger reformatory won't have him."

Frank Antonio chastised one J. G. Jackson and paid $2.50 for not securing a license to practice this profession.

Clarence Trilum was dismissed of the charge of stealing a set of wagon wheels. He was warned by the court to be more careful in the future about the licenses he used on his wagons.

Mary Booker didn't have the $2.50 as assessed against her for being drunk, and Lucinda David for hitting another negro with a stick, failed to fetch along the required $5.

Josephine Griffin and Mary Bell, two of the assembly leaders of the ward, donated $5 and $2.50, respectively, for the fun they had last night.

HANOVER PRESBYTERY.

To Celebrate One Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary.

One of the pleasant exercises to which Presbyterians and others are looking forward this winter is the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the organization of Hanover Presbytery, which celebration will take place before the First Church, into three large bodies—East Hanover, West Hanover and Norfolk Presbyteries—and all will participate in these exercises.

The Presbytery look afield at the session held in the city of Petersburg last May, as follows:

The committee to report on the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the organization of Hanover Presbytery would report, recommending—

1. That the Presbyteries of West Hanover and Norfolk to unite with it on December 7, 1905, in a celebration of the important historic event—the organization of East Hanover Presbytery.

2. That this celebration be in the form of a Presbyterial Convocation in the First Presbyterian Church, of Richmond.

3. That the following special committee be appointed to arrange for this service, and invite the several Presbyteries to be represented by Rev. James P. Smith, Rev. F. T. Pappas, Rev. Russell Cecil, Rev. T. P. McFadden, Rev. Elders R. T. Brooks and George P. Haw.

An attractive programme will be prepared.
